
Logistics of the First Mango Heroes Mint

We made these decisions by sourcing our community first

Supply

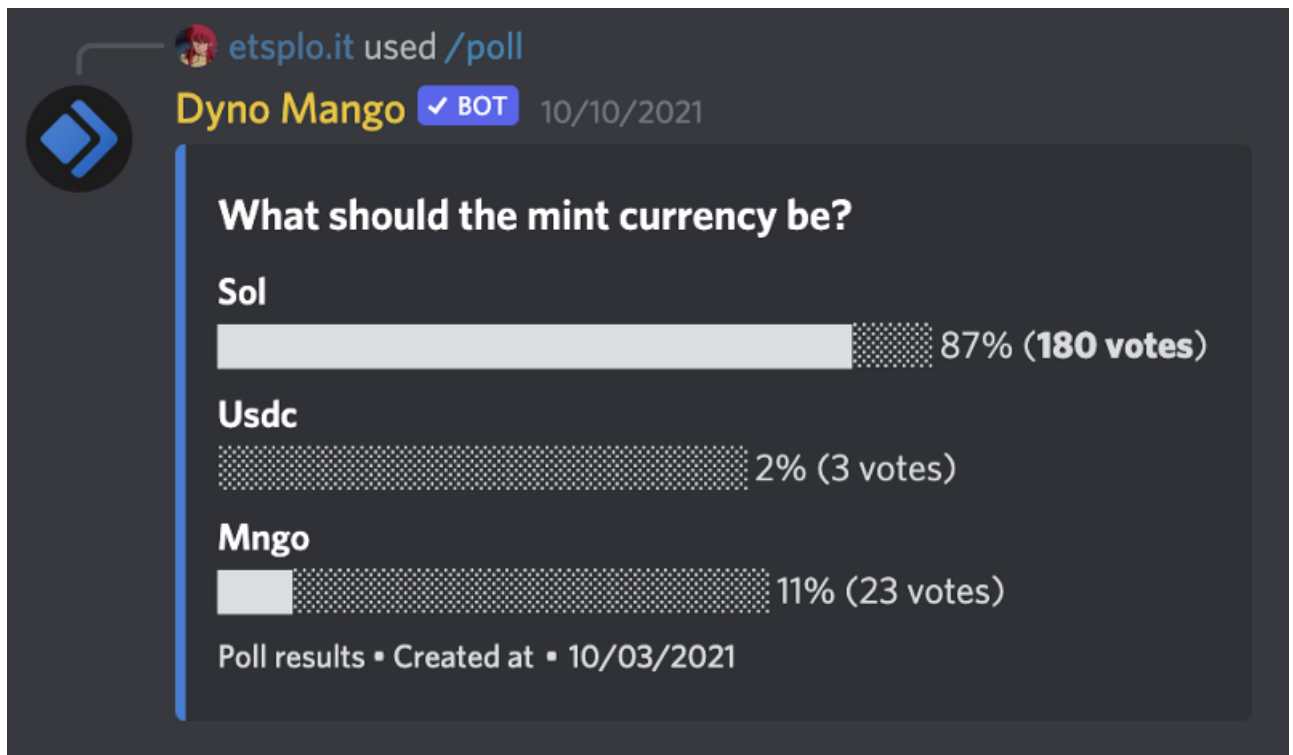

We initially polled both Twitter, our Discord community, as well as Mango Markets community about certain things. People are at this point highly exhausted by 10K mints. So our community decided on a 7,000 supply for our initial mint scheduled for launch on Halloween.

Mint Currency

After looking over the metaplex updates, diving thru the documentation, and attending some office hours it became clear that we would have the opportunity to use any SPL token for our mint. Again, we polled all our community sources both on Twitter, in discord, and thru getting to know what people in conversations on Twitter spaces would be comfortable with and it seemed pretty unanimous that people wanted to mint in SOL.

Price of Mint

We expressed that the mint cost would be 1 SOL as soon as the discord was launched. I think the mint price is justified given all the things that will be associated with this NFT project including but not limited to air drops, mango radio, and the mango hero game development and what we plan to do with the proceeds.
